

CITY WATER SHOULD BE BOILED, SAYS BOARD

Bad Odor Harmless, Water Free From Impurities Declares Body

The following article appeared in the Lexington Herald of Friday and practically covers the situation existing in Paris:

"The Board of Health held a meeting last night at the City Hall and discussed the water situation in Lexington. Messrs. John Stoll and E. B. Ellis, representing the Waterworks Company, were also present. As a result of their discussion the board passed a resolution which was made public, in which they advise the people of Lexington to boil all water from any source used for drinking purposes during the hot months.

"They also stated that there is no danger from the odor in the water, which has been complained of by a great many people and that there have been no cases of fever traceable to the water supply of the city. The resolution given out last night follows:

"Numerous inquiries having been made to the Board of Health as to the safety of the reservoir water for drinking purposes. The board has thoroughly investigated this matter.

"First, we wish to state that the odor of the water, which is so often complained of is due to no harmful organism, but to the presence of Algae, which are harmless.

"The prolonged drought of the past summer has caused considerable increase of bacteria in the water, but no infection has been traced to the water.

"The board, however, as a measure of safety recommends that all water be boiled before drinking, until further notice from this board.

Paris Breaks Even With the Colts.

Paris broke even with the Lexington aggregation in the first two games of the past season series which was inaugurated in this city Saturday afternoon. The first game was to have been played here Friday, but a heavy downpour, which came a few minutes before the game was to have been called prevented the opening contest.

Saturday afternoon the locals, with Hauser on the mound and on muddy field succeeded in putting a coat of white wash over the Yancey aggregation, while off of Vallandigham they put over four tallies. Hauser was very effective and held the Colts to three hits.

The game Sunday in Lexington was won by the Colts in an exciting ninth inning finish and by a margin of only one run. The game would have gone into extra rounds had not Scheneberg, who was playing in the outer gardens, dropped a fly which let in the winning run, the score being 2 to 1.

Shears and Robbins opposed each other in the second contest and while both were wild, hits were few, each side securing but five. Robbins was hit harder than the Paris hurler, two of the safeties of the Bourbonites going for extra bases.

For September.

Come in and examine the September bargains we are offering in wall paper—nothing ever seen in Paris like it before. We are ready to put it on the wall at once.

Columbus Drafts Manager Shelton.

That Mayville will be compelled to look for another man to pilot the Rivermen during the coming season is evidenced by the fact that the Columbus team has drafted Manager (Shelton), who for a part of the present season was at the head of the fast river aggregation. The report of Secretary John Farrell, of the National Association was made public Saturday following the close of the drafting season for Class A clubs, which ended Friday at midnight.

Manager Shelton succeeded Mackey, who started the season at the head of the Mayville club, but after it was too late to put the club in the running for the pennant. However by his clever knowledge of the game he succeeded in pulling the team, that had gone to pieces under careless management, together and in a short time had them playing winning ball, landing the club in third position at the close of the season, and close on the heels of Lexington for second place.

From the first Shelton won his way into the confidence of the Mayville people in his efforts to give them a winning team, and as a result made a large number of friends, while over the circuit he established a reputation of being a clean ball player and a gentleman on the field as well as off. His place on the Mayville club will be hard to fill.

To the Voters of Paris:

We, the undersigned candidates for the Democratic nomination for Councilmen, submit for your consideration the following reasons why you should endorse the policies for which we stand and which have been adopted by the Mayor and a majority of the present Council:

The city has never in its history been in better condition in every way than at present. This administration has built more new streets and reconstructed more old ones and had built where needed more pavements than has ever been done before in the same length of time.

A new rock crusher has been installed at the quarry, a new horse-drawn street sweeper bought, the streets kept well oiled, lights put in new sections of the city, the water mains extended, 1,000 feet of new hose furnished the fire department, the hose wagon and other equipment thoroughly overhauled and put in the very best of condition and new teams provided; the usual interest and $12,000 of the city's bonded debt has been paid when due; $1,500 or more added to the public school fund; a deficit of several thousand dollars that faced this administration at the beginning has been taken up.

All of this has been done with the poll tax taken off and with the property tax reduced 10c, and with not a dollar borrowed in the present year, as has been necessary for a number of years before.

The assessments were made by the Board of Supervisors, whose fairness is unquestionable, and assessed out of proportion to any other.

An itemized statement was published, showing every dollar expended, and a total of the expenditures of each department of the city government.

The present administration has furnished, and is ready to furnish, every equipment and safeguard necessary for the protection of the life, property and rights of the citizens.

Extra police have been appointed wherever and whenever needed, and it is an undisputed fact that there has never been a time when the city has had less lawlessness or fewer drunken, loiters on the streets, and that the police force has preserved the very best of order under all circumstances.

When the Gas and Electric Light plants were purchased by the same party, which could not have been prevented by any authority, the consolidated concern was required to give its new charter the same rates, rights and privileges that had been given under the separate concerns.

The health officers under this administration have given the most active and careful attention to healthful conditions and there has never been known in the history of the city a period when better health was enjoyed by the entire community. The Mayor and health officers have induced the water company to install a better filtering arrangement and are urging them to add to the height of the stand pipe.

Instead of having crippled the fire department, as has been accused, it has been strengthened by the appointment of sober, careful men and every equipment considered necessary, and the record of fire losses for the past two years has demonstrated that the losses have been reduced to a minimum and has secured to the city the rating of the third class instead of the fourth class, to which Paris belongs.

It is a well known fact that under the high license system adopted by this administration that the liquor laws have been more strictly observed than ever before, and if minors frequent saloons it is because those who seem to have such information have failed to inform the proper city authorities and thus save the necessity of appealing to the grand jury, whose duty it is to enforce the laws in the city of Paris as well as in any other part of the county. It is to be hoped that the grand jury can induce these gentlemen to make known these secrets of the law-breakers which they profess to know and yet so zealously guard. We are pledged to no men for positions, but if elected shall place in office only such men as are worthy and capable of filling their positions with credit and who are followers of those old time Democratic principles which mean a government for the whole people and not for any man or set of men who may seek office for their own honor or profit. We shall favor paying sufficient wages and no more than will secure to the city the best services of competent men.

The mayor has two years yet to serve, and in the light of the above facts, which clearly show that the city government during his administration has been carefully and economically managed, giving to Paris the name of being the liveliest and best improved city of its class in the State, it is to the city's best interest that the council should serve with him a council favorable to the policies that he has adopted with such marked success for the city's good.

If elected, we pledge ourselves to stand by his policies whenever they are shaped by as good judgment as they have been in the past, and even at the risk of being accused of being ruled by one man, we pledge ourselves to accept his leadership in whatever may be for the public welfare.

Asking you to judge us from our past services and our promise to continue to serve as best we can the most good to our city and the whole people, we most respectfully ask your support in our respective wards.

Third Game With Colts Today.

The third of the eleven game series will be played at White Park this afternoon between the Colts and Bourbonites. The contest will create quite an interest owing to the standing of the clubs at the present time in this series, each having won one game since the series began last Friday.

Manager McKernan, who has been in Michigan for several days, returned to Paris yesterday morning and will be in the game at his old position at the second station this afternoon. McKernan was accompanied home by John Scott, a member of the Bourbonite aggregation which carried off the pennant honors last year. Scott is fresh from a successful season with the Flint, Mich., team and has been drafted by the St. Louis Nationals. He will be seen in the Paris line-up this afternoon and will play a position in the outfield.

Mayer leaving the club to join the White Sox at Washington, necessitated the calling of another catcher and McKernan has secured Catcher Hennegan, of the Austin, Texas, club, who will wear a Paris uniform until the present series is closed. Scheneberg, who has pitched fourteen games in a row and won as many will probably hurl for the locals this afternoon. The Champs are determined to take the series from the Colts and will put up their best efforts this afternoon. The game will be called at 3:15 o'clock.

Case Continued.

As the result of a difficulty of a division fence separating the property of the principals near North Middletown Tom Johnson of that place is alleged to have drawn a revolver upon O. H. Peters and at the instance of the latter a warrant was issued from the county court and Johnson was arrested charged with assaulting another with a deadly weapon. The case came up for trial in the county court Saturday afternoon resulting in the case being continued until Tuesday September 26.

Mayer Leaves to Join White Sox

Walter Mayer, the star Bourbonite backstop, left last night for Cincinnati, from which place he will leave for Washington where he will join the White Sox, by which club he was purchased from the Minneapolis club, who acquired the Paris catcher through a deal which was closed at the early part of the season, by which the Millers were to have the pick of the Paris club in consideration of the release of McKelvey and Shears.

Mayer's rise in base ball has been very rapid, as this is the first year he has played professional ball, coming here from Cincinnati after catching for several semi-professional teams around the Queen City. He first attracted attention when the Reds made an offer to take him on their trip South last spring and McKernan being short of a man to take the position of catcher, brought him to Paris. Mayer was by far the best windup artist in the Blue Grass and Billy Doyle, a scout for the St. Louis American, made an offer of $1,500 for his release but the Paris management could not accept on account of the agreement with Minneapolis. Mayer has had a hard season and it is feared by his friends this will affect his playing when he joins the Sox. However, it is hoped he will be able to stick in the fast company and his career will be watched with great deal of interest by the local fans.
